

I just want to implore the FCC to say that deregulation of the media while it has created many avenues for corporations to exploit technology to cut costs and dominate markets, it has diluted variety in many markets. With Clearchannel and the like using the same template to shovel the same drivel across many mediums is a travesty. I hope you have tuned into local radio lately... I ask you, is it better?